

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

What Would You Do?
Given the depths of the ocean,
The paths where the white stars shine,
The mystery of birth and the pulse of
the earth—
What would you do, poet mine?
Go winnow the silence for heartbeats,
Through the fulness of time for the sign—
Point the path of art in the depths of
your heart,
Ere you write on the worlds, poet
mine.
Then string the white pearls of your fancy,
On the thread of your thought, spun
and fine,
For the world will hear well the sweet
story you tell,
With its burden of love, poet mine!

Debutante Reception.

One of the most brilliant social affairs of the winter will be the reception to be given this afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock in the Woman's Club, when Mrs. Joel S. Perrin will introduce her debutante daughter, Miss Helen Phillips, to Richmond society.

Receiving with Mrs. Perrin and Miss Phillips will be Mrs. John A. Coker, Jr., Miss Rosalie Myles, Miss Eugene Taylor and Miss Mattie Baskerville.

A number of prominent society girls will assist in serving. They are Miss Julia Joyce, Ella Blaford, Lillian Blaford, Kate Wrenn, Hattie Shields, Lina Shields, Jessie Hazard and Charlotte Miller.

Several hundred invitations have been issued.

House Party Very Gay.

The members of Mrs. Claude A. Swanson's house party—Mrs. James A. Scott, of Lynchburg, Va.; Mrs. John Swanson, of Danville; Miss Rison, also of Danville; Miss Anderson, of Alexandria, and Miss Jordane, of Washington, D. C.—enjoyed an informal game of bridge at the manor last evening, the occasion being all the brighter for the presence of the gentlemen, who dropped in after tea and played cards with the ladies.

This evening the young ladies of the party are to be the guests of Mr. William M. Habington, who will invite a number of his friends among the society girls of the city to meet them in his apartments at the Chesterfield. Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Scott, with their hostess, will take tea with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Blair, and have a game of whist afterward.

At Home Days.
The custom of "at home" days, after having fallen temporarily into disuse, is again interesting the minds of Richmond society women. After consideration, it has been decided by many ladies living between First and Monroe Streets that they will be at home on Tuesday afternoon from 4 o'clock on. This rule will hold good, except in cases where an important function takes place on Tuesday, and conflicts with the hour above mentioned.

Up to a few years ago Wednesday afternoon informal "at home" were the rule from the Executive Mansion as far up town as First Street, and Thursday afternoons from Monroe westward. It seems a proper and sensible idea to revive the habit of appointing a day and an hour when the caller can be sure of finding a friend in when starting out on a round of visits.

Club Entertainment.
Mrs. C. H. Henry, of No. 160 Hanover Avenue, entertained the Progressive Set-back Club very charmingly last evening. Christmas bells, holly and mistletoe carried out the holiday idea in the decorations. After the game, in which eight tables participated, delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. R. T. Durham served cognac. Mrs. Henry poured chocolate and Mrs. Arthur Wilson presided at the luncheon.

A most enjoyable evening was spent, each member having invited a guest for the occasion.

Emma Andrews Whist.
The Emma Andrews Whist Club will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock with Mrs. Edward T. Crump, at the Chesterfield. Bridge will be played.

Mrs. Way's Tea.
Mrs. Harry Rodolph Way, of No. 308 South Third Street, has issued invitation held a called meeting yesterday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Arrange for Party.
The Junior Oakwood Memorial Association held a called meeting yesterday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. C. W. Massey, to conclude arrangements for the progressive euchre party to be given by the Senior and Junior Associations on Monday evening next.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was unusually large and enthusiastic, and much interest in the entertainment was expressed. Young ladies of the Junior Association will assist in all the preparations, and will be on hand Monday evening to serve refreshments and to arrange the occasion as pleasant as possible. In addition to the game, Mrs. M. E. Howard will pour chocolate and the Misses Gary will assist in decorating the banquet table.

Rivalry in Love.

By WILLIAM WALSH.

The author of these verses is said to be William Walsh, born in England, in 1862, and died in 1907. The biographical dictionaries do not even mention him. The poem which he has left to posterity is best known by its last two lines. The opening lines have a familiar ring about them. Sylvia was a favorite name with the poets of the olden time. The first poet probably used it as meaning some innocent woodland nymph. It was afterwards used as a woman's name. Few collections of poems omit "Rivalry in Love," but none give any facts concerning the poet's life. If in less than 300 years after his death the poets in his life are forgotten by the world, after another 300 years his poem may pass into the category of anonymous.

Of all the torments, all the cares,
Which which our lives are cursed;
Of all the plagues, all the lower hurts,
Sure rivals are the worst!
By partners of each other kind,
Afflictions easier grow;
In love alone we hate to find
Companions of our woe.

Sylvia, for all the pangs you see
Are laboring in my breast;
I beg not you would favor me,
Would you but slight the rest.
How great see'er your rigors are,
With them alone I'll cope;
I can endure my own despair,
But not another's hope.

Other officers chosen were as follows: Vice-presidents, Messrs. Harry W. Zooker, W. T. Daughtery and H. Clay Morrow; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Keaton; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Rees.

COLD PEOPLE
Improper Food Makes Poor Circulation.
The food that produces energy, gives natural warmth while it strengthens the invalid and leads back to health and happiness.

There's no stimulant that can take the place of proper, fully digested food—that's Grape-Nuts.

"I am so grateful," writes a N. Y. lady, "for the good done me by Grape-Nuts, that I feel I ought to write and thank you."

"Ever since the coming of my baby I have had such poor circulation it seemed as though I never could get warm."

"Nothing I ate agreed with me, and I had little nourishment for baby. Finally my husband said, 'Why not try Grape-Nuts?' I see it has done a good deal for some people."

"Oh! I am sick and tired of hearing about these things," I answered. "It might benefit some people, but not me. But I got worse all the time. One day my husband brought home a package of Grape-Nuts and asked me to try it."

"It did, and that's why I am so thankful now." The first night I tried it I slept soundly all night, and in the morning felt warm and comfortable. I tried it again, and began to develop plenty of milk for the baby. I have kept on this food, and am now a well woman."

"I am giving baby a little of the Grape-Nuts every day, and he is growing wonderfully. When I am tired out some night by being kept awake, I find that Grape-Nuts in the morning refreshes me as though I had had a good night's sleep, and I feel able to do a good day's work."

"It has done so much for me I want to encourage mothers to use it themselves, and give it to their babies. We feel it was a godsend to us."
